

Diamond Marimba Manual #2

Foam Cutting

Copyright © 2019 by Cris Forster

2010

Foam-cutting jig mounted on top of the table saw. The white material is baby powder used as a dry lubricant. As small pieces of foam pass through the blade, they have a tendency to snag and twist at the ends of cuts. The baby powder provides lubrication to ensure that all cuts are straight. Clean the foam by blowing compressed air into its pores.

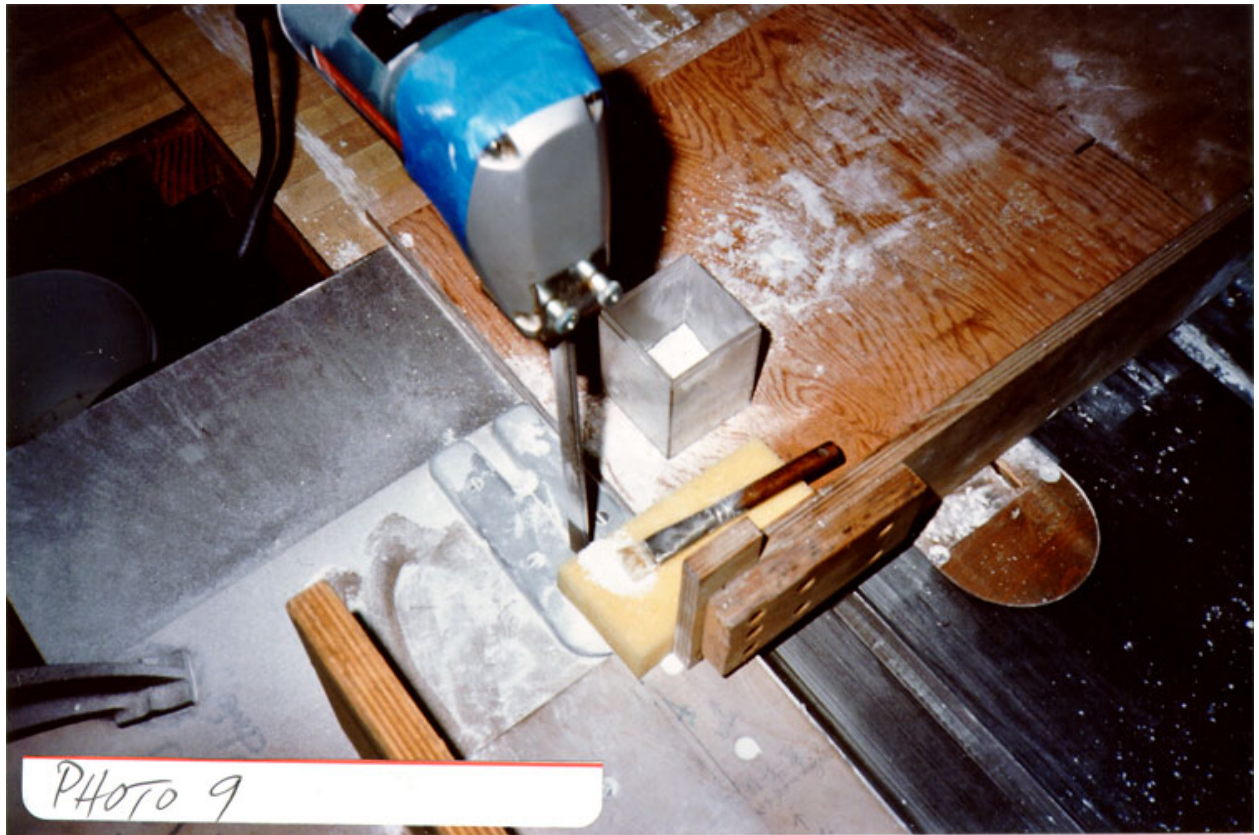

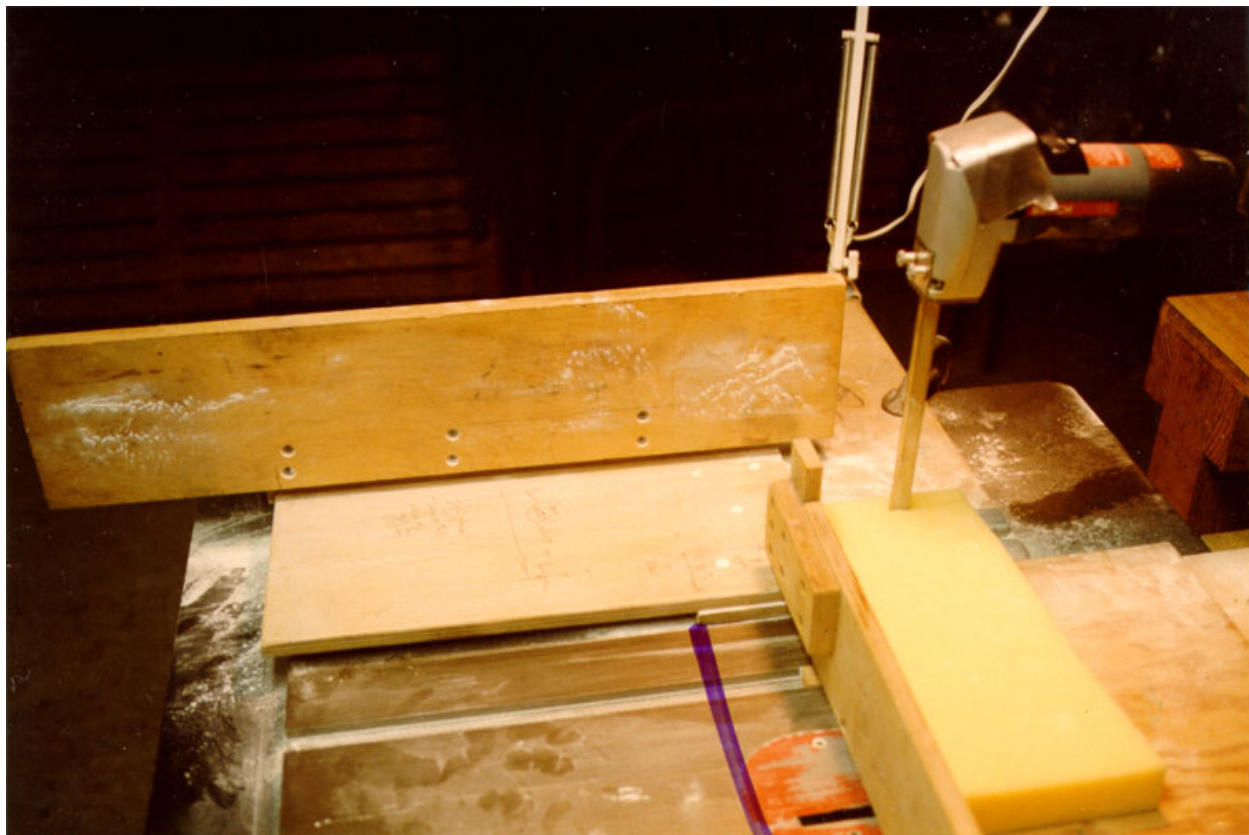

PHOTO 9

PHOTO 10

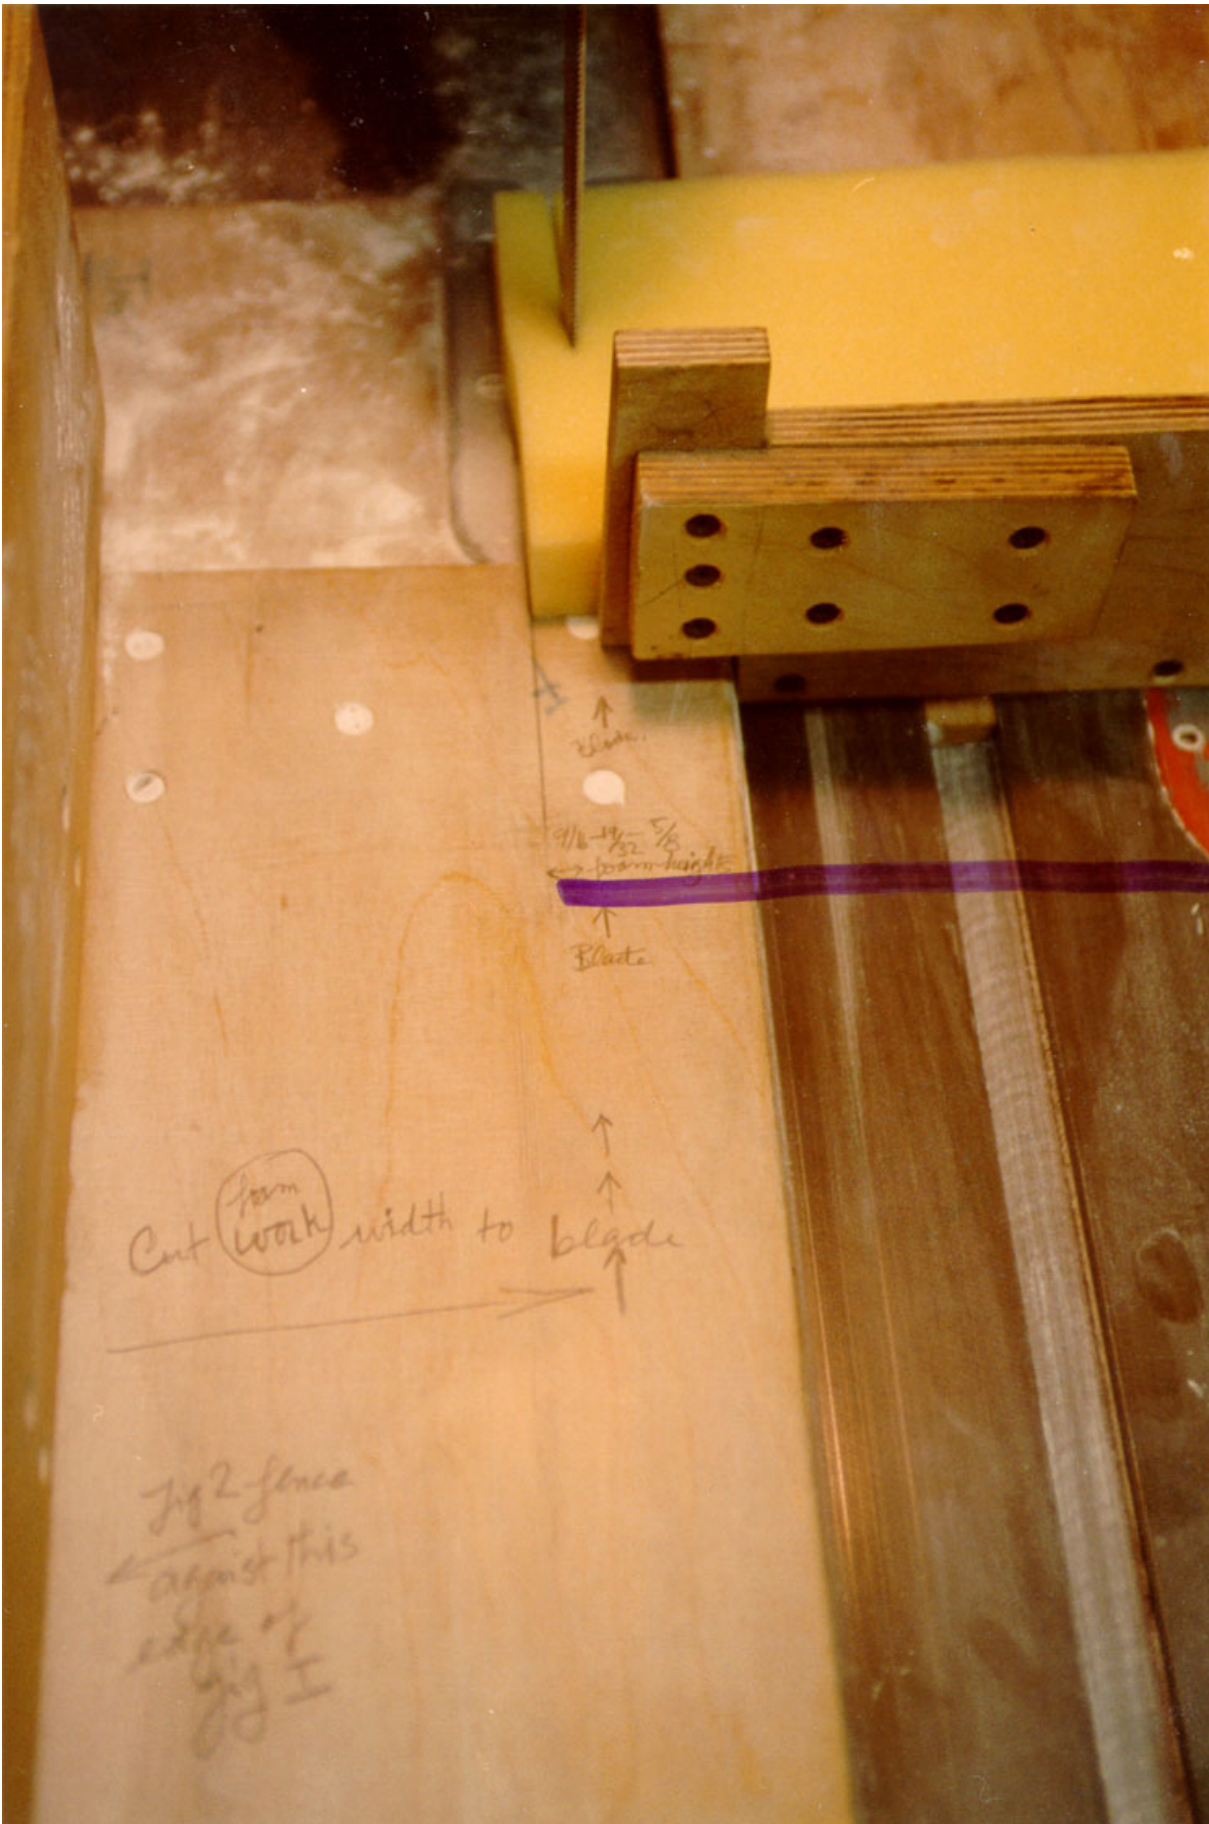

No. 16.

No. 17.

No. 18.

Insert this round block vertically or horizontally between bar and resonator to change the foam blocks without cutting the nearly indestructible Scüinci cords.

